ONLY ONE HOPE

On which to Base the President's Recovery.

Unless his Stomach Very Soon Resumes its Functions.

DEATH LIKELY TO ENSUE WITHIN A WEEK.

Contradictory Reports During the Entire Day—Attending Physicians still Hopeful—Outsiders Generally Despondent—Latest Reports Slightly Favorable, Etc., Etc.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

The reports as to the president's condition are full of repetition and quite contradictory in character. This grows out of the fact that in the present case it is extremely difficult to obtain access to reliable sources of information, and much therefore must be left to conjecture. Enough, however, is known to render it certain that the president's condition is such as to excite the gravest apprehensions. We give the mass of dispatches as received.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, Aug. 16.

4 A. M.—The president awoke about 3:30 and experienced a slight nausea, which soon passed away. Soon afterward a natural operation of the bowels occurred. At this hour Dr. Bliss reports his pulse firmer and no quicker, and the patient more comfortable.

A Bare Hope.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Dr. Agnew, one of the attending physicians, says that while there is yet hope, the president is in a very critical condition.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Specials unite in the statement that the president's condition is worse than at any time since he was shot, and that if no relief or improvement comes in 24 hours, the case is hopeless.

Despondency Reigns.

The résumé of four bulletins is that the president has not vomited since 3 A. M. At 11 this morning his pulse stood at 126. They thought then if the temperature went down and the pulse kept up till 11 P. M. it would be a sign of death. The pulse has receded 12 degrees but the temperature has also gone down 3-10 degrees. The surgeons say nothing now but evidently entertain little, if any, hope. The fall of temperature, though slight is regarded as serious and foreboding worse results. It is true the pulse has fallen some; but the temperature is below now, which is a most dangerous symptom. The stomach still refuses food and injections are only partially successful, but life cannot long be sustained so. Surgeons stick close to the president, watching every movement, hoping a favorable turn. All information shows the chance for life very slim. Surgeons don't give up the case and that is all that can be said. The president does not rally a particle, remains about the same and nothing can be done to give strength. Hope is all that is left and not much left to base hope on. Despondency now pervades the White House.

Statement by Dr. Bliss.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Bliss wrote the following at 10 o'clock to reporter in answer to a note: "The president is sleeping without anodynes; pulse less by 10 beats since evening's bulletin; temperature not above 99; respiration 20. Altogether he is in a more promising condition than at 6:30; has not vomited since 4:30; his stomach retained three teaspoonfuls of milk early in the evening."

One cause for the Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—It is said by some who should know, that the disturbed condition of the stomach is largely due to the free use of brandy. The president has himself protested against this as the liquor was very distasteful to him, but the physicians think it necessary to administer it in order to maintain his strength. It is upon the stomach which the physicians have relied and must rely to build the president up.

An outside Opinion.

A correspondent had a half hour's confidential chat with a high official, one who has never sent out reassuring bulletins, and who certainly has accurate knowledge of the condition of the sick man as anyone would have who is not one of the surgeons in attendance. During the conversation the correspondent was shown a private dispatch sent out this morning to absent cabinet officials, in which nothing but a cheerful impression was conveyed. From the source already mentioned it was learned that the president has been steadily losing ground since last Tuesday noon. From that period to this he has at no time gained or even held his own. This fact is so unquestioned that it is hard to understand upon what those in attendance have been able to base such impressions of cheerfulness and reports of alleged gains. The range of the president's pulse has been steadily higher every day since Tuesday, an indication of increased weakness. Should any contingency arise now requiring another operation to save the president's life, the surgeons would fear to assume the responsibility for the reason that the patient is too weak to recover from the shock. The surgeons in addition are confronted by a grave symptom, which has two constructions. One would indicate a fatal result and the other a local disturbance of the stomach, caused by indigestion. What was feared yesterday by Dr. Agnew was absorption of pus that had not escaped, into the stomach. Symptoms of last week have pointed in the direction of fatal results. This official said that he thought the doctors would know within the next 24 hours whether the stomach trouble was resulting from fatal causes.

Minister Lowell Informed.

Assistant Secretary of State Hitt, who has just come from a private part of the house, was asked if he had any favorable news to communicate, and in response said: "I am very sorry I have not, in fact I know nothing of the late condition of the patient. Although I have been inside the surgeons told me nothing important." Hitt has just sent the following cablegram to Minister Lowell, at London:

"The president's condition causes great anxiety. He is restless and vomited during the early part of the night. Is tranquil to-day but has not rallied as much as hoped. At 12:30, pulse 114, temperature 98.3, respiration 18. His stomach refuses nourishment.
HITT, Acting Secretary."

An Opinion by Dr. Bliss—The Stomach refuses to perform its functions.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—After the issue of the 7 o'clock bulletin it was evident the surgeons felt alarmed. Dr. Bliss was accosted while returning to the white house after dinner and said the president was in a very critical condition. His case however was not regarded as hopeless and if the gastric disturbances could be arrested there would be nothing specially alarming. The vomiting was very debilitating in its effects and the question was whether the president could be sustained by enema or injecting nourishment through the bowels until the stomach could recover its power of retention. There was not, he said, the slightest sympathy between the wound and the gastric trouble so far as the causes were concerned which produced the latter. The wound was in excellent condition as was ascertained by examination to-day. They could look through the incision recently made by Dr. Agnew and healthy granulation was plainly visible. His temperature was little above normal and no discomfort had been experienced through the day by the president from fever. This was an encouraging feature in the case, but Dr. Bliss admitted that unless there was a decided improvement to-morrow the president would be past all hope of recovery at the close of another 24 hours. The great trouble now is that the stomach refuses to assist us by performing its legitimate functions. All efforts made during the day to have the president retain nourishment failed. His stomach was so sensitive that even water would not remain. After injection was resorted to he rallied slightly and his condition was further improved by about two hours sleep. In the evening he was again given nourishment and again the stomach refused to retain it. About 8 o'clock a half wine glass of hot water was administered and this was retained. Soon after taking the hot water the president fell asleep. Through the day the president retained his mental faculties and occasionally conversed about his case with the surgeons.

The 8:30 A. M. Bulletin.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, Aug. 15.—8:30 A. M.—The president was somewhat restless and vomited several times during the early part of the night. Since 3 o'clock this morning he has not vomited and has slept tranquilly most of the time. Nutritious enemata are successfully employed to sustain him. Altogether his symptoms appear less urgent than yesterday afternoon. At present his pulse is 110, temperature 98.6, respiration 18.

An Alarmed People.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16, 2 A. M.—The special reports of the president's condition have caused more excitement here to-day than at any time since he was wounded. Business was almost entirely suspended and people were running everywhere to hear the latest news. The white house was filled up and throngs pressed about the gates. The excitement started with the morning bulletin which was considered very unfavorable. The mid-day bulletin instead of reassuring the people increased the uneasiness and the night bulletin made matters still worse. Everybody wanted to find out what the surgeons thought of the case and what hopes they had, but this was rather difficult as the surgeons kept themselves out of sight. This added to the alarm and at night the whole population was on the streets going to their homes and the white house. The surgeons remained close by the president and the grounds at the white house were thronged. But little could be learned that could be called definite. Those who had access to rooms near the president and doctors would say but little [illegible] the situation was critical. Attorney-General MacVeagh told Senator Pugh of Alabama that it was [illegible] deny that the case was as critical as [illegible] Ex-sheriff Daggett of Brooklyn, who has access to personal attendants of the president, [illegible] it was as bad as could be. All this seemed to increase the feeling of alarm [illegible] the state of the case. It was plain [illegible] that the surgeons were all alarmed, there was no concealing that fact. Various rumors were afloat and could not be [illegible]. About [illegible] o'clock the press agent [illegible] Dr. Bliss. He said he was in a hurry to get back to the president, but would take time to say [illegible] was the most critical time in the president's malady. It was a complication that was not looked for. Last night [illegible] the president's stomach went back on him entirely, refused to perform any of its functions. The surgeons at once became alarmed as they saw it was a critical change. "The wound was doing all right; there was no trouble from that and [illegible] the pus that is secreted. The trouble is with the stomach. The president has been suffering with dyspepsia for several years. We knew that and therefore [illegible] administered [illegible] stimulated and at first we gave [illegible]

Vice-President Arthur.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Vice-President Arthur passed the morning very quietly at his residence and said he had received no further information from Washington and did not intend starting for the capital until sent for.

Various Morning Reports.

[illegible]

[illegible] the president's condition, that since the temperature after the noon [illegible] the temperature should remain normal or decrease a little, and the pulse keep up the situation will not be considered materially changed. Stationary temperature and improved pulse would be the most favorable indication. At the present time nothing directly from the sick room has been received since the facts above stated. There is a general feeling of anxiety throughout the city. As usual there are many rumors on the streets, such as "The pulse is increasing rapidly," "It is known that the president can not recover," etc., etc. There is no foundation for them beyond what has been stated.

9:15 A. M.—Private Secretary Brown came from the surgeons' room a few moments ago and reported the president sleeping. No morphine has yet been injected, and there has been no report of nausea since 4 A. M. Two enemata have been successfully administered since midnight. Secretary Brown says the morning dressing showed the wound to be in perfect condition. Members of the cabinet arrived at various times during the early morning, Secretary MacVeagh, accompanied by Dr. Agnew, arriving at the mansion about 7:30. When he returned from the private part of the house he expressed the opinion that while there was yet hope, the patient was certainly in a very critical condition. There was a noticeably despondent expression on the faces of those having access to the president's chamber, and the greatest reticence was observed, especially by attending surgeons, who do not enter the business portion of the house unless it is absolutely necessary. A despondent expression of MacVeagh was especially noticeable. Shortly after 9 o'clock the cabinet officers, with the exception of Lincoln, who arrived at a later hour, having just returned from New York, left the White House for their respective departments. The day bids fair to be one of anxious waiting. The midday bulletin is anxiously awaited.

12:30 Bulletin.

12:30 P. M.—The president has been tranquil and has not vomited since the morning bulletin, but has not rallied from the prostration of yesterday afternoon as much as was hoped for. The enemata administered are, however, still retained. At present his pulse is 114, temperature 98.3, respiration 18.

BLISS,
BARNES,
WOODWARD.

Bliss's Views at Noon.

Dr. Bliss entered the executive mansion a few moments ago to attend the noon examination. On being approached by a representative of the Associated Press he said in a general way that he considered the patient better than yesterday, whereupon the following dialogue took place:

Reporter—Well, doctor, what are the real chances?

Bliss—The chances are indefinite. I have not seen the patient for an hour or so, but he was better than yesterday when I last saw him and, of course, we take encouragement from that.

Rep.—The mid day examination will be very important, will it not?

Bliss—Oh, yes; for instance, if the temperature should fall much below the normal point, the case would look quite badly, particularly if the pulse should rise.

Rep.—Do you expect this?

Bliss—No, we do not, but, of course, we cannot predict with any degree of certainty what will be the result.

Rep.—You do not give up the case then?

Bliss (emphatically)—No we do not give it up.

Rep.—Have any intimations been given finally, to prepare for the worst?

Bliss—No, sir; it hasn't come to that.

The doctor then proceeded to the sick chamber, having an appearance perfectly calm and composed.

An Attendant's Statement.

1 P. M.—Miss Edson, one of the attendants upon the president, retired at 4 o'clock this morning, and did not leave the mansion for her home until noon. Previous to her departure she said the president's case this time was certainly very critical, but she still had hopes of his recovery. The trouble with the president's stomach had nothing to do with the wound, which is nearly healed.

Fast Losing Hope.

2:30 P. M.—A general feeling of anxiety and alarm is plainly perceptible. The most sanguine are apparently fast losing hope and callers may be seen leaving the executive mansion with looks of despair upon their countenances. While this feeling of despondency is very general there are those who yet maintain that the patient will rally, among whom may be especially numbered Generals Swaim and Rockwell.

The Condition of the Wound.

2:40 P. M.—Bliss this afternoon felt confident that the wound was doing as well as it possibly could and has healed to within about three inches of the mouth of the last incision. He feared no further trouble from the wound, and said the only thing to be overcome now is the irritability of the patient's stomach, which they were doing their best to master.

No Better.

At 3:15 there was nothing definite to be learned at the White House, except that the president is no better. Ominous silence and quiet prevails. Nothing could be heard from the surgeons. There is positively no improvement.

More than an Even Chance.

3:30 P. M.—Bliss says that, in his opinion, the president has more than an even chance to get well. He is retaining the nourishment which has been administered during the day. Taking everything into consideration the case looks hopeful.

Sympathy from Queen Victoria.

The following cablegram was received by the British legation this afternoon:

The queen is sorry for the president's relapse and inquires after him. PONSONBY.

The Stomach all the Trouble.

Ex-Sheriff Daggett of Brooklyn, near to administration circles, gives up all hope. He says Secretary Brown is hopeful, but he don't like the looks of the doctors, who betray anxiety. At 11 o'clock this morning Bliss said the president was better than last night, when it looked very dark. It is a serious case: all the trouble, however, is with the stomach. We have not given any nourishment to-day and may not. All will depend on his constitution. Last evening he could not take even milk and a little water. The disturbance of the stomach is not caused by pus being absorbed, and we hope that life can be sustained by injections until we can repair the tone of the stomach.

The doctors disagree on this point.

Decidedly Dangerous.

Secretary Lincoln is reported as saying that the case is decidedly dangerous, and that unless the president is nourished inside of 48 hours it will be impossible to sustain life.

Mrs. Garfield Hopeful.

Mrs. Garfield is said to be as cheerful as the circumstances will allow and she entertains a strong belief that her husband will recover.

Agnew still Hopes for the Best.

Dr. Agnew is quoted as having said this afternoon that the patient was no weaker than yesterday and that there was a very reasonable chance for his rallying. This statement is not explained in a direct manner but whatever may be said there is no denying that the case is extremely critical at the present moment and unless a favorable change occurs within a short time it may prove fatal.

An Old Complaint.

The president has been for years under the treatment of Dr. Baxter for indigestion, for which reason he is rarely at evening entertainments. He suffered greatly during the campaign.

At the White House.

Secretary Windom and wife, and Secretary MacVeagh and wife, were at the White House until 11:30 A. M. Secretary Windom at noon said the case was more favorable, but MacVeagh only said he was no worse. At 1 P. M. Chen Lan Pin, Chinese minister and wife, called. Mrs. Garfield received them in the Blue room. They conveyed messages of sympathy from the Chinese emperor.

In case of the Worst.

At noon Justice Harlan of the U. S. supreme court also at the White House. He says that the vice-president is hourly advised of the president's condition, and stated his presence here is not absolutely necessary, even in case of the worst, as he can take the oath in New York before [illegible] justice of that district as well as here [illegible] supreme court.

Cabinet in Consultation.

[illegible] P. M.—All the members of the cabinet, with the exception of Secretary Blaine, are now in consultation in the cabinet rooms.

Holding his Own.

[illegible] P. M. (unofficial bulletin).—The president is said to be holding his own, and this is considered by attending surgeons to be a point in his favor. Generally speaking he is at this hour considered in better condition than he was this morning. Nothing [illegible] can be learned regarding the [illegible]

Anxiety in New York.

Patriotic Utterances of Mr. Conkling.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Ex-Senator Conkling was seen this afternoon by a reporter [illegible] Mr. Conkling [illegible] what anxious hours have passed since the Washington dispatches yesterday. A relapse at any time is dangerous [illegible] of all. The more I think of this fearful tragedy the more I am convinced that the country is passing through a dangerous crisis, and Mr. Garfield's death would be one of the most unfortunate things that could happen to it. I do not intend to leave the city should the president grow worse, unless it be to offer my services to the bereaved family."

Only One Hope.

The Post's Washington special says Dr. Bliss says the stomach is now resting. If the strength of the patient can be sustained by injection until the digestive organs recover it is possible for him to get well. Of course, if the stomach has given out, it all ends it. This cannot be known yet and still the fact appears. We must watch and wait. If he passes the day without vomiting, the pulse falls in rapidity and gains in firmness, we may hope that he will yet be spared. If vomiting continues and the pulse does not mend, the public should understand that the end is probably near.

Private Views.

James, who has been always hopeful, said this morning that his information made him somewhat easier than yesterday, but his face was not hopeful. It wears an anxious look and is far less reassuring than his words.

MacVeagh, always despondent, looks utterly hopeless and says he don't expect recovery. His friend, Dr. Agnew, however, does not inspire this view of the case. The surgeons are more hopeful.

Premature.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 16.—The Daily Post and the Daily Courier of this city announce this morning the death of President Garfield and publish obituary notices.

Good Wishes.

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—In an audience which he gave to Minister White yesterday the emperor wished that the relations between Germany and America might continue as intimate as they had been since the time of Frederick the Great.

10 P. M. Report.

10 P. M. (official).—To-day undoubtedly has been the most unsatisfactory day of the president's illness. Early morning showed signs of lose hope for the president's recovery, and cabinet officers, department officials and others of more or less importance called at the White House to obtain particulars. With the exception of official bulletins, all answers to interrogations as to the patient's condition, little is said beyond what they contained. The evening has been considered the most critical period. Those who have been here show intense anxiety and consideration. They have by their act and manifested that in their opinions the case has reached an extremely critical period. This opinion has not been confined to a few persons, but is almost universal throughout the city. Attending surgeons avoided conversation as much as possible, especially with members of the press, and the greatest difficulty has been experienced in satisfying the demands of the public for the exact condition of affairs. The information was dropped during the afternoon when the cabinet was called together, that it was thought some official act was about to be promulgated, but proved erroneous. The object of the meeting, which took place between 4 and 5 P. M., was simply to hear in a body the statement of the attending surgeons on the situation with a view of ascertaining the exact state of affairs.

Dr. Bliss was called upon to convey the desired information. He talked for some time, and while he stated explicitly the gravity of the situation he was hopeful and not afraid of that the president had at least an even chance for recovery. The explanation was sufficiently clear to re-establish to considerable extent the confidence of the cabinet officers and they expressed themselves as feeling more hopeful after the conference. After the cabinet officers left and it became known what had taken place, a decidedly better feeling prevailed throughout the mansion and although the prospects for the president's recovery were far from satisfactory, they were accepted with much gratification and soon changed the decided sadness which had pervaded the house all the afternoon to a general feeling of hopefulness. The most sanguine were forced to yield to unfavorable indications during the early afternoon, but previous to the issuance of the seven o'clock bulletin the expressions of Dr. Bliss had become well known and their effect was noticeable. Shortly before the bulletin was issued Private Secretary Brown's room commenced to fill with callers, among whom were Judge Harlan, Third Postmaster General Hazen, Representative Dezendorf, of Virginia, and First Auditor Reynolds. Eager conversations as to the probabilities of the president's recovery were freely indulged in, and before the bulletin was brought from the surgeons' room the excitement, although of a quiet nature, rose, intense fears being entertained that the temperature would be shown to have fallen still further below normal, which is 98.4. Dr. Bliss brought the bulletin from the surgeons' room, and the moment he appeared in the secretary's apartment it was apparent there was no extremely unfavorable symptoms. The assistant secretary prudently took the bulletin from the doctor and read it aloud to the anxious gathering. It was stated by Dr. Bliss, immediately after the reading was concluded, that the bulletin in his opinion, considering the circumstances, was favorable. One good feature of the bulletin was the rise in temperature, which is six-tenths degree higher than at noon, and five-tenths above normal, which is an indication that there is still some material left, however slight, for the fever to work upon. The vomiting referred to in the official bulletin is explained to have been very slight, and was the result of the patient's drinking ice water. It appears that after drinking he expressed a desire to be turned on his side, and the disturbance of his body is supposed to have irritated his stomach again, which is now extremely weak. The only nourishment which the patient had to-day were enemata, which, as shown by the bulletin, have been retained. While the evening bulletin has had the effect of warding off all apprehensions of a crisis during the night, still grave fears are entertained that morning will not bring much encouragement, owing to his extremely debilitated condition. It has been impossible to ascertain anything from the sick room since the evening bulletin was issued. This is considered an unfavorable indication, as the surgeons have usually been quite communicative at least to cabinet officers. A member of the cabinet just said up to this hour nothing is learned from the surgeons since the bulletin issued. Mrs. Garfield, accompanied by her son James, took a drive in the evening of about an hour. The lady endeavors to look cheerful. She continues to bear her trouble with great fortitude.

10:25 Bulletin.

10:25 P. M.—Dr. Bliss has just come from the sick room, going to the depot to meet Hamilton. The following conversation occurred between several reporters and himself:

How is the president now?

No worse; he's asleep now.

Do you feel as confident as two hours ago?

Yes, and I feel a little better.

Was any morphine administered this evening?

None at all. There has been no vomiting this evening. The injected nourishment was retained enough to keep him going until the stomach can regain strength.

Then you feel it will do so?

I hope so.

You feel encouraged since the bulletin was issued?

I think we all do. From a casual examination made a few minutes ago, the president's pulse was about 114, temperature about 99.6, or slightly above normal, and respiration 18 or 19.

11 P. M. Bulletin.

11 P. M.—The monotony has just been closed for the night. Secretary Brown has just come from the surgeons' quarters and reports the president sleeping quietly at this hour and that his pulse has grown less frequent within the last two hours, and no vomiting has occurred since 4 P. M.

Public Sentiment against the Lords.

A meeting of the [illegible] liberal associations to-day to [illegible] the action of the house of lords on the land bill was very numerously attended. Sir Wilfrid Lawson and Messrs. Collings, Firth and Barran, members of parliament, were present. Resolutions were passed declaring the lords had mutilated the land bill in the interest of landowners so as to render it wholly unacceptable, and urging the government to adhere firmly to the bill which finally left the commons. It was also resolved that the action of the lords raised a constitutional question tending directly to compel the country to consider the possibility of maintaining a system which will enable the irresponsible chamber to defeat the will of the nation.

Gladstone received a hundred messages and letters from liberal clubs and other organizations urging the government to stand firm.

Settled at Last.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—In the house of lords this evening Lord Salisbury made a statement that, although the opposition retained its objections to the land bill, and particularly regarding its provisions affecting lease holders, and although they would have felt bound to support Lord Lansdowne if he had persisted in maintaining his amendment on that point, they would not take action which would cause the bill back to the commons, which had removed the dangerous excrescences of the bill. He expressed the hope that the bill would be of great benefit to tenants and not much harm to landlords. Lord Lansdowne declined to press his amendments. The lords then agreed to the amendments of the commons. Lord Salisbury gave confirmation to the statement of Gladstone, that there had been no arrangement between the two sides, and said the commons was responsible for the defects of the measure. The final proceedings of the lords consisted principally of mutual congratulations on the satisfactory ending of the difficulty.

Brogadocio.

DUBLIN, Aug. 16.—At the weekly meeting of the land league to-day Sexton claimed that the league now ruled the country, had prevented the celebration of Orange and Catholic anniversaries, which formerly caused bloodshed; had caused parliamentary deadlock; compelled the law to stand at bay and afterwards brought it in accord with the principles of justice.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 16.—The Orangemen have [illegible] 437 laborers to reap the [illegible] districts of Ireland and [illegible] started for Dublin to-day.

A One-Sided Election.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The Herald's Madrid special says: The election of presidents and assessors, who are to preside at the polls on general election day next Sunday, took place yesterday. In a vast majority of the districts the government candidates have, as usual, been appointed. [illegible] of Castelar. Hardly forty conservatives will sit in the new parliament. Castelar's and extreme democrats were beaten almost everywhere in the preliminary struggle yesterday. Conservative candidates are treated with great severity by the authorities. The [illegible] and opposition [illegible] will scarcely number ten members in the new house. Thanks to the strength of its majority, the government will be able [illegible]

Red-Hot Spanish Politics.

[illegible] Serrano is among the heaviest sufferers by the fires. The authorities attribute these savage acts of incendiarism to electoral agitation. It is worthy of remark that the Spanish conflagration has come in with the outbreak of terrible forest fires in South France near Bordeaux, which are also attributed to malefactors.

Time Extended.

ATHENS, Aug. 15.—The European commissioners have decided to allow the Turks five days' delay instead of 15 in which to surrender [illegible] the territory ceded to Greece.

The Ameers and the Kahns.

CALCUTTA, Aug. 16.—It is reported that Ameer Abdurrhaman Kahn's soldiers who went to Ayoob Kahn after the recent battle are deserting back again to the Ameer. The envoy at Simla states that the Ameer has a strong army at Cabul and does not want money or arms. On the whole the Ameer's prospects are more hopeful.

More Outrages on Jews.

STETTIN, Aug. 16.—Disturbances here yesterday were occasioned by 300 men parading the streets and uttering anti-Jewish cries. Forty persons were arrested. The town is almost denuded of troops owing to military manœuvres, and consequently great anxiety prevails. During the recent anti-Jewish outbreak at Schievelbein, Pomerania, damage to property amounting to 150,000 marks was caused, which sum the municipality will have to cover.

GERMANY AND AMERICA.

Baron Steuben's Relatives Invited to attend the Celebration at Yorktown.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The state department in answer to inquiries as to whether the descendants of Baron Steuben, of whom, there are seven in Germany were to be invited to the Yorktown centennial wrote the minister at Berlin recently as follows:

During the darkest period of the revolutionary war a German soldier of character and distinction tendered his sword in aid of American independence. Frederick William Augustus Baron Steuben joined Washington at Valley Forge in the [illegible] and disastrous campaign of 1778. The [illegible] recounts the valuable and skillful services of Steuben and says he was present at the final surrender at Yorktown in 1781. He then assures the German government that the representative of the fifty millions of people of the United States and the United States extend a hearty invitation to be present. To the Germans in America the visit of Baron Von Steuben's relatives will have something of the character of a revival of family ties, while to Americans of whatever origin the presence of the German guests will afford a fitting opportunity for signifying their respect for that country within whose limits are included much of human grandeur and human progress.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

According to the Chicago Inter-Ocean's figures Jay Gould owns 7000 miles of railroad, valued at $14[illegible]

The late Judge Clifford's law library is said to be the finest in the United States, and it is reported that it has been left to his three sons, all of whom are lawyers.

Jay Gould's nephew drives a Denver street car. If he is like his uncle he will soon own the line, and the present proprietors will have nothing but their experience.

Railroad Building in the North.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—The Times' special from Winnipeg says 60 miles of the main line of the Canadian Pacific is completed west of Portage La Prairie. The grading on the whole air line between Winnipeg and the Portage is in progress. Tracklaying has been contracted and the road is expected to be ready for traffic by November. The dominion government has appointed James [illegible] of Nova Scotia inspector of the Pacific road.

Official Arrested.

DETROIT, Aug. 16.—Henry Howgate, disbursing officer of the signal service, was arrested at Mt. Clemens, Mich., for embezzling $8,000 from the government by means of fraudulent vouchers. He waived a preliminary examination and left for Washington with an officer. He says he can explain the discrepancy. His wife accompanies him.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Many military troops have signified their intention to be present at the Yorktown celebration. It is believed that the militia expected to take part in the celebration will exceed 5000. Many states will send full regiments.

More Indian Troubles Expected.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The following telegram has been received by the war department:

PRESIDIO, SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15, 1881.

To Adjutant-General, Washington, D. C.: The following has been received from the commanding general of the department of Arizona: Agent Tiffany of San Carlos seems to apprehend trouble with the White Mountain Indians, Tontos and San Carlos Indians, growing out of evil advice of a band of medicine men. A number are congregated near Apache. Tiffany wants additional arms, and I have authorized arms to be sent to the agency with an officer and telegraphed the adjutant-general for authority to turn them over. Have heard nothing from Carr, who is at Apache, to warrant alarm. He reported the machinations of the medicine men some days ago without special significance. Hatch telegraphs reported movements of hostile Apaches from the Rio Grande towards Arizona. All necessary instructions have been given Carr at Apache, and Biddle at Grant, to cover both contingencies.

[Signed] KELTON, A. A. G.

Cause of the Outbreaks.

A report has been received at the interior department from U. S. Indian Agent Llewellyn, at the Mescalero agency, relative to the recent depredations committed by a party of Mescalero Apache Indians. Concerning the cause of the outbreak Gen. Llewellyn writes under date of July 28th as follows: Some few months ago a Lieutenant of the United States army then stationed here, gave a written permit to three Indians at this agency to go to old Mexico and bring back a party of their friends whom they claimed had left at the time of the Victoria troubles. This party was due home three weeks ago. They were chased and driven into the mountains thirty miles from the agency to the south. Since that time they have made [illegible] of Parker's scouts, three ineffectual attempts to get into the agency, being prevented each time by the scouts and soldiers. Finding they could not return to the agency as they had been led to believe, they concluded to go on the war path. I learn on good authority that there are about seventy Indians in this party. The Indians here feel badly that their friends could not be permitted to return, but all state to me they will remain quiet and show the Great Father their hearts are good.

Indian Stampede.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Private advices to-day report a threatened stampede at Socorro, N. M., by Apache Indians, and a request that troops be sent immediately. The secretary of the interior and general of the army have been consulted on the subject and response sent to Socorro stating that the available military force in the locality should be sufficient to prevent any outbreak and it was deemed unnecessary to order additional troops there.

The Last Massacre.

SANTA FE, Aug. 16.—The military headquarters have received no report of the massacre at the village eighteen miles from Fort [illegible]. The bodies of two men killed by Indians were found by troops at [illegible] ranch, forty miles from McCarty's station, some days ago.

Indian Excitement.

LAS VEGAS, N. M., Aug. 16.—A special to the Gazette from Socorro says: The Indian excitement continues unabated. Fire at Farmington.

FARMINGTON, W. T., Aug. 17.—A fire broke out in Farmington, Whitman county, at 12 o'clock last night, destroying Benton's saloon, J. Gross' residence, Eldel's blacksmith shop, F. P. Paddock's drug store, the postoffice, J. P. Kelly & Co's warehouse and Campbell's hardware store. Very little of the contents of the buildings was saved. Insurance unknown. Loss about $[illegible]. The origin of the fire is unknown, but supposed to be accident.

IDAHO.

Volcano in Idaho.

LEWISTON, Aug. 16.—A volcanic eruption took place on the side of the mountain south of the south fork of Clearwater, about 20 miles east of Mt. Idaho, on Tuesday, the 9th inst., sending forth a column of fire and smoke several hundred feet in height, and rock which fell at a distance of several miles from the place of eruption. The shock was distinctly felt at Mt. Idaho and on the extreme west of Camas prairie and at the mouth of Salmon river, a distance of about 75 miles. Later news from Camas prairie reports that a column of black smoke is still issuing from the opening, which is distinctly visible from the prairie. No one as yet has approached the place. Evidences of volcanic action at some former period exist in many places in the immediate vicinity. So far as appears at the distance viewed the opening is less than a thousand feet above the bed of the south fork of Clearwater and within three miles of the Milner trail, between Mt. Idaho and Florence.

North Carolina and Secession.

[Charleston (S. C.) News.]

The received view is that the doctrine of secession met with little favor in North Carolina, and that when the question of "convention" or "no convention" was submitted to the people in 1861, they voted with great unanimity against holding a convention. The actual vote, it seems, was: For convention, [illegible]; against convention, 46,603, the majority against convention being 194. These returns do not include the vote of Davie county, which would have increased the majority against convention. There is no evidence here of great unanimity against convention. The vote was about 20,000 less than in the preceding August election, and probably those who did not vote were divided in the same ratio as those who did vote. North Carolina hesitated long before entering the union, and hesitated long before undertaking to secede from the union. But the state recognized the importance of taking a stand with the southern sisterhood, and, in all, put more than 120,000 men into the confederate service, although the entire vote in 1860 was only 112,586.

President and People.

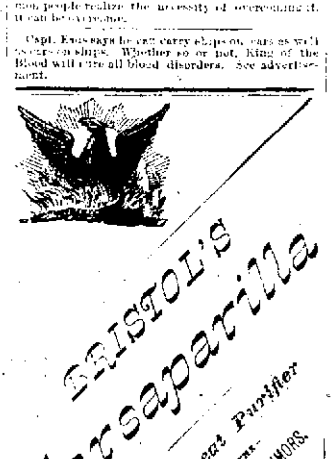
The Obstacle Enormous, but not Insurmountable.

[Globe-Times.]

The obstacle in the way of such a radical reform of the civil service as can be effected only by expunging the spoils system from our administrative arrangements is an enormous one. But if the common people realize the necessity of overcoming it, it can be overcome.

Capt. Eads says he can carry ships on cars as well as cars on ships. Whether so or not, King of the Blood will cure all blood disorders. See advertisement.



King of the Blood.

Is not a "cure all;" it is a blood-purifier and tonic. Impurity of blood poisons the system, deranges the circulation, and thus induces many disorders, known by different names to distinguish them according to effects, but being really branches or phases of that great generic disorder, Impurity of Blood. Such are Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Nervous Disorders, Headache, Backache, General Weakness, Heart Disease, Dropsy, Kidney Disease, Piles, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Disorders, Pimples, Ulcers, Swellings, &c., &c. King of the Blood prevents and cures these by attacking the cause, Impurity of the Blood. Chemists and physicians agree in calling it "the most genuine and efficient preparation for the purpose." Sold by Druggists, $1 per bottle. See testimonials, directions, &c., in pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," wrapped around each bottle.

Arrangements for Capturing the Presidency in 1884—Uniting the New York Democracy.

The Tribune says of the proposed union of the democracy: It is proposed that Tammany and Irving hall shall mutually take the first step. The various democratic organizations, big and little, shall send delegations to confer with the state committee as to the proper recognition of each coming convention. Every faction and everything like a personal organization from that of Oswald Ottendorfer or Andrew H. Green, up to Tammany hall, shall send delegates to represent and advocate its claims to a voice in the convention, and share in the local patronage. The state committee is to decide upon these claims and allot to each, representation in such proportion as may seem best adapted to produce harmony and unite the democratic vote. This scheme has been seriously considered by prominent men in Tammany hall.

Catarrhal
[illegible]

Wei De Meyer's Treatise on Catarrh, explains the following important facts:

1. That Catarrhal Colds become a poisonous infection, at first local and finally constitutional.

2. That, being Constitutional, the infection is beyond the reach of mere local remedies.

3. That impurities in the nostrils, are necessarily swallowed into the stomach and inhaled into the lungs, thus poisoning the Digestive, Respiratory and Genito-urinary organs.

4. That Catarrhal virus follows the mucous membrane and causes Deafness, Dyspepsia, Chronic Diarrhœa, Bronchitis, Leucorrhœa, and Consumption.

5. That Smokes, Douches, Inhalations, and Insoluble Snuffs, cannot possibly remove infectious inflammation from the organs named.

6. That an antidote for Catarrh must possess an inoculative affinity for, and the quality of being absorbed by, the purulent mucus wherever located.

Based upon these plain theories, Dr. Wei De Meyer's Catarrh Cure has proved to be infallible. It not only relieves, it cures Catarrh at any stage. Home testimony:

[illegible] MORNING, AUGUST [illegible] 1881

is now simply one of the [illegible] parts. [illegible] the power of the house of lords is still considerable. It can alter bills. It can reject bills upon which the house of commons is not yet thoroughly in earnest. [illegible] the nation is not yet determined. [illegible] a sort of hypothetical veto. It can suspend, but as [illegible] will not reject. The nation, through the commons, can say to the lords, "[illegible] use the powers of your house as we like, or you shall not use them at all." Undoubtedly the house of lords is opposed to Mr. Gladstone's land bill. An instinct shows the lords that this bill is against prerogative and privilege. But having been accustomed for years and years to act on the greatest matters contrary to its own judgment, the house of lords now acts timidly in opposition, and at last will act on this matter also, as it has done on so many former ones, in accord with the national will.

The growth of these principles dates back to the great revolution. James, by his assumption of absolute powers, had drawn the parliament into a struggle with the crown. The struggle was intensified by the still more arbitrary pretensions of Charles, his son and successor. The commons of 1640, though resolute against the king's assumption of despotic authority, knew not how to act till the way was shown by John Pym, whose courage and masterly leadership form one of the great landmarks in the history of free republican government. Of the five hundred members of the commons who sat around him, Pym was the one man who clearly foresaw and as clearly resolved how to meet the difficulties that lay before them. Not only had parliament been drawn into a struggle with the crown, but the house of commons was hampered by the house of lords. "The legal antiquarians of the old constitutional school"—we quote from Green's History of the English People—"stood helpless before such a conflict of co-ordinate powers, a conflict for which no provision had been made by the law, and on which precedents threw only a doubtful and conflicting light. But with a knowledge of precedent as great as their own, Pym rose high above them in the grasp of constitutional principle. He was the first English statesman who discovered and applied to the political circumstances around him what may be called the doctrine of constitutional proportion. He saw that as an element of constitutional life parliament was of higher value than the crown; he saw too that in parliament itself the one essential part was the house of commons. Revolutionary as these principles seemed at the time, they have both been recognized as the bases of the English constitution since the days of Pym. The first principle was established by the convention and parliament which followed on the departure of James the Second; the second by the acknowledgement on all sides since the reform bill of 1832 that the government of the country is really in the hands of the house of commons, and can only be carried on by ministers who represent the majority of that house."

It was thus that the work of Pym brought about a political revolution greater than any that England has ever experienced since his day. The lords were scared out of their policy of obstruction by his bold announcement of the position taken by the house of commons. "The commons," said their leader, "will be glad to have your concurrence and help in saving the kingdom; but if they fail of it, it should not discourage them in doing their duty. And whether the kingdom be lost or saved, they shall be sorry that the story of this present parliament should tell posterity that in so great a danger and extremity the house of commons should be enforced to save the kingdom alone." Here is the keynote to all the subsequent political history of England. In the storm that followed, the crown and the house of lords were alike swept away, to be restored only with limited powers after the revolution had run its course and the way had been prepared for the restoration.

The literary theory of the English constitution says that the house of lords is a co-ordinate estate of the realm, of equal rank with the house of commons; that it is the aristocratic branch just as the commons is the popular branch; and that by the principle of the constitution the aristocratic branch has equal authority with the popular branch. Americans often argue or imagine this from the supposed analogy of the two houses of their own congress. But such a view is misleading. Especially from the reform act of 1832, the function of the house of lords has been altered in English history. In 1846, in the height of the corn-law struggle—the lords being opposed to the repeal of the law, and the question being whether they should resist or yield—the Duke of Wellington wrote to Lord Derby a curious letter, designed to guide the lords to their true position. The tenor of this letter was that the house of lords ought to avoid a dispute and difference with the house of commons; that he had himself on many former occasions urged this policy and particularly on the passage of the reform bill in 1832, which course he fully believed had alone saved the existence of the house of lords; and that the wisdom of the house of lords is to know that it must yield when the house of commons is determined in its policy and has the support of the people. If ever the house of lords could have resisted a measure of the commons it was on the reform act and the corn laws. For the great majority of the lords insisted that the proposed reform was revolution, free trade confiscation, and the two together ruin. Nevertheless the lords yielded and passed both bills.

This slight sketch will throw light on the present controversy between the lords and commons on the Irish land bill, and at the same time will afford an indication of the final result. The power of the house of lords is a power of revision within certain limits, not a veto of delay. It may temporarily check, but will not long prevent, any legislation demanded by the nation.

THE VICE PRESIDENT.

Should Vice President Arthur now succeed to the presidency, of which there is every probability, he may, and no doubt will, be better prepared to discharge the duties of the great office than if they had been precipitated upon him some weeks ago. There has been time for reflection on his part as well as that of the people. [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] BEYOND HOPE.

[illegible] The wound [illegible] has been so severe and so [illegible] that his physical strength is gone. [illegible] unfavorable turn of the case, however slight, such as obstruction of the process of suppuration of the wound, which has already occurred several times, would render his death inevitable, as he has no strength left to bear any kind of operation. It is out of the question for the suspense to last much longer. If the function of digestion and nutrition, so essential in his present weak condition, cannot be restored, the end must be very near. A great people, in suspense and fearing the worst, can only bow the head in a great sorrow.

The New York World thinks that when congress meets the spoils system must "prepare to fight for its life." Reluctantly we must agree with the Springfield Republican that the New York World is premature. The pitched battle is a good ways off yet. When congress meets a great swarm of bills on the subject will be introduced, and the house will probably put itself on record as favoring the reform by an overwhelming majority. All the representatives will be in favor of the reform, but "agin its enforcement," and the reform bills will be kicked around from committee to house and house to committee, without making much progress, until gradually the idea is hammered into congress that unless the reform is adopted men will be sent to Washington that will pass it. Steady, consistent, unremitting, organized agitation will bring this, and nothing else will.

We have another contribution sent for publication, which attempts to apologize for socialists, nihilists and assassins of "tyrants." We decline to print it. This country has had enough of assassins and of those who sympathize with them. It wants to hear no more of the infernal sophistry by which such acts are excused, no matter what the circumstances. Any argument by which the murder of a czar is justified can easily be tortured by scoundrels who are against all authority into justification of the murder of a president. A country in mourning to-day is in no mood to listen to the casuistry of cold-blooded diabolism.

Recent disclosures of star route operations in the southwest show some highly original methods of rascality. The operators would put worn out stock on the road and "expedite" collection of damages by having their own road agents duly disguised as Apaches, make a raid on the stage and shoot down the stock and destroy the wreck of a coach. Then they would file claim for reimbursement on first-class stock and stage. In this way Uncle Sam was robbed of many thousands of dollars. The fine Italian hand of the late Mr. Dorsey appears in the plot.

Joaquin Miller, who is in New York, has turned nihilist (as unbalanced minds are likely to do), and has been praising Sophie Perowskaja, who was hanged at St. Petersburg for giving the signal to Roussakoff who murdered the czar. Miller's jingle, which his admirers persuade themselves is "poetry," shows a great admiration for the young murderess, and he has now fairly earned his claim to rank with Hartmann, who ran away and left her to her fate, with Crowe, O'Dynamite Rossa, Wendell Phillips, and other advocates of assassination.

The policy which Lord Beaconsfield attempted to carry out in Afghanistan cost the British government $75,000,000. The last fragment of the policy is now swept away, and British influence is at an end in Afghan land.

Just what those who know Mr. Cincinnatus H. Miller—who calls himself "Wakeen"—would expect of him, is to find him singing the praises of assassination in phrases of Brummagem Byronism.

The wool crop of California for the present year is estimated at 66,235 bags, or 24,471,429 pounds. This is 20,000 bags less than 1877, but larger by a good deal than the crop of any year since.

[illegible] from some point [illegible] who was chopping [illegible] struck [illegible] in danger [illegible] The man [illegible] and faint from the [illegible] the hospital.

VACATIONS.—Under th[illegible] the Churches [illegible] The Rev Mr [illegible] has taken a trip to [illegible] for his vacation. The Rev Mr Watson of Seattle is spending a few weeks in Victoria. The Rev Mr Well[illegible] of Walla Walla has been on a leave [illegible] for a few weeks but has returned. The Rev Mr [illegible] has been to San Francisco for recreation. The Rev Mr Stevens of Albany took a missionary tour along the coast of southern Oregon finding more work than recreation. The Rev Mr Perkins of Astoria goes to Alameda, California for a few weeks partly for a vacation and partly to supply a vacancy there.

THE LATE MRS CONNELL.—The funeral of the late Mrs William Connell will take place at 4 o'clock this (Wednesday) afternoon from the family residence, corner Taylor and West Park streets. Friends of the family are invited to attend the funeral but by special request the services at the grave will be private. Mrs Connell departed this life Sunday morning, and the funeral has been deferred until her son, Mr Thomas Connell who was in eastern Oregon at the time, could reach this city. He will arrive this afternoon on the Dalles boat. Immediately after his arrival the funeral services will take place.

INJURED.—Mike Zeller a member of Protection No. 4, met with a severe accident on Monday while returning from the fire in the southern portion of the city. He had hold of the tongue of the engine and becoming exhausted, fell on the First street bridge. The fore wheels of the engine passed over his arm, but before the hind wheel reached him he grasped the brake and held on to it. The wheel however struck him on the side bruising him severely. He was taken home and a doctor summoned. It is feared that he was injured internally as he was spitting blood.

PICNIC.—The first annual excursion and basket picnic will be given at Vancouver park on Sunday August 21st, under the auspices of the members of North Pacific lodge No 314 I O B B for the benefit of cemetery fund. The elegant steamer Washington has been chartered for the occasion and will leave foot of Morrison street at 9 A M sharp. Profs Varney and Bray leading musicians have been engaged, and dancing will commence soon after arriving. The steamer will not leave Vancouver until after the dress parade by the soldiers at the garrison.

UNDER ARREST.—On complaint of James Barry a man named John Moore was arrested last evening and taken to the city jail. Moore is charged with having attempted to draw a postal order at the [illegible] in this city which belonged to Barry. The order is for the sum of [illegible] It is claimed Moore made false representations in his endeavor to draw the money. Chief Lappeus, on ascertaining the nature of the charge turned Moore over to the U S Marshal. He will be examined in a few days before the U S commissioner.

FATAL INJURIES.—Mention was made last week of the very severe injuries sustained by Matthew Mackey a longshoreman by being struck with a rail of [illegible] while at work on the ship Countess of Derby. The bar fell while it was being pulled from the hold of the ship, and one end striking Mackey heavily on the head, fractured the skull. He was removed to the hospital, and lingered along until Monday when he died.

INTO THE WHARF.—As the steamer State was effecting a landing at the Farmers' warehouse at Astoria, she ran her bow into a shed adjoining the dock and did some damage. A large quantity of salmon was stored in the shed, and the steamer's bow cut like a knife through a number of cases. The steamer escaped with very slight damage. The damage to the shed and salmon will be about $200.

O. T. S.—The committee of ladies who gave such very successful entertainments for the Open Temperance Society last winter expect to give another the next Saturday evening for the same purpose at the Y M C A hall. This one will consist of a musical and literary programme by some of our best local talent, followed by an ice cream sociable. Be sure and attend. Programme in Friday's paper.

ARRESTED FOR LARCENY.—Yesterday a woman named Mollie Moss, an inmate of a house of ill repute on Third street, was arrested on a charge of robbing a man named Charles A Nicholls, of $140. The defendant stated that she was not ready for the examination and the case was continued until Thursday. Meantime the woman was held to appear in the sum of $500.

ROBBERY.—Last Saturday night Capt. Randall living at No 54 North Fifth street, and a Mr Han[illegible] also living at the same place and in the same room were robbed of their pants and their purses the Captain losing $180, and his room mate $50. They recovered their pants finding them in one corner of the yard the following morning. No clue to the robbers.

DISLOCATED.—Monday evening a little twelve-year-old son of John Grow the painter was thrown from a wagon near the corner of First and Caruthers streets, and had an elbow dislocated. He struck violently on one shoulder, which dislocated the limb. The dislocation was reduced, and at last accounts the boy was doing well.

PROMOTIONS.—Mr DeWolfe, first officer of the Columbia, received a telegram at Astoria yesterday morning, ordering him to New York to take command of the new collier Umatilla. Mr Drinkwater first officer of the Oregon will take Mr DeWolfe's place on the Columbia. The latter left by the State en route east.

BARGAIN ROOM FOR CLOTHING.

We can lose profits, but we mean to lose sales. We have divided our clothing into two parts. One part consists of that which must be sold quickly at whatever price it will bring quickly in August. The other part consists of that which it [illegible] any way. The former is marked down sharply in proportion to the urgency of each case. It consists largely of whole suits for men and boys of all sizes and partly of odd garments. Wheat ... One ... in last week thirty-six head ... were found in the hollows. Poisoned meat had been liberally dealt out the night before. Various rumors are afloat as to the cause. Some assert it is only the signal that soon the burglars will be at work, while others imagine it is only the freak of some half deranged individual. Had they removed ... the ... it would not have been a matter of ... but some very valuable dogs were killed, in fact about all that were killed were valuable.

Western Oregon.

A parochial school is soon to be established at ... by the Catholics of that place.

Mayor Hendricks of Eugene City offers $100 reward for the arrest of any person guilty of arson or attempted arson in that city.

Wheat commenced coming in to the Salem mills last Saturday at a lively rate. The mill issued on that day about 800 sacks to farmers. The wheat is thus far of a superior quality.

A large percentage of the grain in Polk and Yamhill counties is still standing and will not be ready to cut for ten days or two weeks. Appearances indicate a yield unprecedented in Oregon harvests.

The rain of Saturday and Sunday was not general throughout the valley. Farmers were busy in the fields Monday afternoon in the district visited by the storm, showing that its effects were temporary.

A small child of Wm. Inman, of Spencer Creek precinct, Lane county, was severely scalded on the 11th inst., by one of the family stumbling and falling over the child while carrying a kettle of hot water, which dashed over the child's face. It is feared the accident will prove fatal.

Statesman: By order of the U. S. circuit court, all the property of W. C. Griswold, in Salem, except that known as the agricultural works, is soon to be sold, in satisfaction of the judgment obtained against him some time since by the United States. The fine building known as the Griswold block, is included in the property to be sold.

The prospects for Willamette University during the coming year, are more cheering than ever before. New students are being reported from all directions, and a much larger number than usual is insured for the fall term, which opens September 5th. The teaching force is more thoroughly organized, and more complete, both as to numbers and efficiency, than heretofore.

C. M. Reed of Creswell, is having hauled and stacked, 200 tons of hay. He will use it in feeding cattle for the market this winter. The hay was purchased of Mr. Dougherty at the rate of $4 50 per ton in the field. Mr. D. cut his entire crop of grain to furnish the hay; both his wheat and oats would have yielded well but he chose to convert the entire crop into hay on account of the slim prospect of a good price for cereals this fall.

Southern Oregon.

The new bridge across Rogue river on the Fort Klamath road has been accepted.

Four of the children of A. C. and S. E. Howlett, of Big Butte precinct, Jackson county, have recently died of diphtheria. They were aged respectively 17, 8, 5 and 3 years. A fifth child is quite low with the same disease, and the father and mother are worn out with watching and grief.

The line of survey through Josephine county for the O. & C. R. R. Co., was run from Vannoy's ferry to Smith river divide. It is reported that an easy grade was found upon the whole route, the heaviest being over Smith river pass—90 feet to the mile. The summit of the pass is but 2,300 feet high—2,200 feet lower than the Siskiyou.

Mammoth vegetables are raised in portions of Jackson county. In the garden of C. K. Hoste, near Phoenix, a beet was pulled recently that measured 23 inches one way and 25 inches the other, and a rutabaga that was 25x28 inches. Neither of the vegetables had their growth, and both had plenty of company in the same garden.

George Schumpf of Jacksonville, recently made the distance with a team between that place and Camp Harney, via Lakeview, in 8 days. The distance is 480 miles, but this he augmented considerably by losing his way. Mr. Schumpf says some of the valleys traversed were very beautiful; at one place he saw a herd of cattle 30,000 strong, at another a herd of 12,000, with the grass knee deep.

About thirty families from Walla Walla are at Medical lake this week.

The waters of the Natches and Yakima are lower than ever before known.

On and after August 22d the postoffice at Yakima City will be a money order office.

J. E. Palmer has been appointed flume superintendent at Dayton for the Oregon Improvement Company.

During the first six weeks the First National Bank of Dayton, W. T., was opened, $50,000 was deposited.

The county commissioners of Spokan county have been petitioned to increase the school tax from four to six mills.

A turnip is exhibited at Spokan Falls that weighs nine pounds and measures twenty-three inches in circumference.

S. Withowski, clerk of the Goldendale school district reports 113 boys and 117 girls old enough to draw school money, and 27 boys and 31 girls under age.

There are no idle men in Dayton, and laborers are scarce and in demand. Every day farmers come to town in search of harvest hands and return home without them.

The amount of assessable property in Spokan county this year is $1,123,100, against $828,660 for last year. Property is not assessed as high as it was last year. The lowest assessment on real estate was $75.

The county commissioners of King county have fixed the rate of taxation for the present year at 24 mills, divided as follows: For county purposes, 4 mills; school purposes, 3 mills; territorial purposes, 3 mills; road tax, 6 mills.

The Dayton flouring mills have recently been thoroughly refitted, and new improvements are in contemplation. A force pump will soon be added to the mill, which will render it safe from all fires; and a large new flume pipe will be put in immediately, also another run of stone.

Dayton News: On Sunday, while Lewis A. Hager was in town for medicine for one of his children that was sick with the diphtheria, his house caught fire and was entirely consumed. Upon his return, Mr. Hager found his wife and sick family in the brush back of his late dwelling, where they had gone for protection from the weather.

James Woodruff, one of the first white settlers on the Touchet, died at his home in Waitsburg on the 11th inst., aged 54 years. Walla Walla was an Indian reservation for some time after he went to eastern Washington, and he had to obtain permission of the Indian chief before he was permitted to settle down or build him a cabin near the present town site of Waitsburg.

A four year old son of John Castle, fireman on the C. & P. S. railroad, died at Newcastle Saturday morning of smallpox. He came up on the steamer Dakota at the same time that Davis did, and contracted the disease, it is supposed, before leaving the steamer. The other cases at Newcastle are getting along well and it is hoped no more deaths will result therefrom.

Most of the ties which came down from the head of the Yakima are now in the boom about eight miles below Huntington's ranch. Sixty thousand have been permitted to pass through and will be taken to Ainsworth. The balance will probably be taken out at different points and there taken care of for future use. Orders for teams to haul out the ties have, to a great extent, been countermanded.

The tie-drive down the Tietan is progressing slowly. When last heard from it had only progressed about four or five miles below the forks, that is, about 25 or 30 miles from where the Tietan empties into the Natches. Nine men were taken from the lower river and sent up this week. About 25 or 30 men are already there, and the increase of force will no doubt materially hasten the drive.

Yakima Record: Last week Mr. Chappell, who has a farm on Parker bottom, in the lower Yakima, sent us a sample of rye grass measuring nine feet in length. From a note sent us at the same time we learn they had roasting ears on the 28th ult., which were raised on sage land without water. He has a small field of wheat on his bottom land, now nearly six feet high, which he thinks will yield not less than 45 bushels to the acre.

Dayton Chronicle: Several insurance companies will probably cancel some of their risks in the principal business blocks of this place unless better protection against fire is soon provided. Some such talk on the part of insurance men has already been heard on our streets. It has struck the thoughtful heretofore that the amount of ... the cheaper frame buildings was entirely out of proportion to the fire department.

General Crop Reports.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The department of agriculture says the condition of spring wheat on Aug. 1st as compared with same time last year is 88 per cent and as compared with 1879 is 81 per cent. There is reported a heavy decrease in Iowa and Illinois, a slight decrease in Minnesota, Nebraska and California, while in Wisconsin and all New England states there is an increase. Reports from Dakota indicate a fair crop with large increase in the acreage.

The condition of tobacco on the date of returns to this department was somewhat lower than last year.

Corn—The condition last month was 90 per cent. In August, 1880, it was 98 per cent., which was very high. Atlantic coast states make a showing somewhat better than the general average except in Carolina, where excessive drouth has cut down figures to 41 per cent. Louisiana and Texas are next lowest of the coast states from the same cause, reporting 67 and 68 per cent. respectively, Tennessee is the lowest of interior states, its average falling to 62 per cent. In the great corn growing region the highest reports are 95 per cent. in Wisconsin and 92 in Nebraska, and lowest, 74 in Kansas.

English Wheat Crop.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The Daily Telegraph, in an editorial view of the English crop, says the prospect of good crops is slightly overcast. The process of ripening has been arrested over a large extent of country, and reaping is interrupted early in farming districts by chilling showers and temperature. In some parts of England the rain was little less than a deluge. Over a large extent of the best wheat growing counties, it has fallen with unwelcome copiousness. The paper thinks the wheat crop will be 15 per cent under average, but about a million quarters more than last year. If the next few days are rainy, chilly and unsettled, the cereal crop will be under these figures, and the level will sink with every day of adverse weather, which throws back the harvest to a later period of autumn. It hopes the country will be able to get along with an import of 13,000,000 quarters of wheat.

Iowa Crops.

FAIRFIELD, Aug. 16.—The secretary of the Iowa agricultural society reports winter wheat an average yield this year. Returns from 38 counties show 8 bushels per acre. Of spring wheat the average yield will be a fraction over 8 bushels, but the last estimate will not be over 6 bushels per acre.

Liverpool Breadstuffs Market.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 16.—In breadstuffs a large business was done and high prices prevailed. Wheat, 10s 2d@10s 5d per cental for average California white; 10s 5d@10s 9d for California club; 9s 9d @ 10s for red winter. Receipts of wheat for the past three days, were, 309,000 centals, including 130,000 American.

Chicago Wheat Quotations.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

Celebrated American

WORM SPECIFIC

OR

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

THE countenance is pale and leaden-colored, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull; the pupils dilate; an azure semicircle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; a swelling of the upper lip; occasional headache, with humming or throbbing of the ears; an unusual secretion of saliva; slimy or furred tongue; breath very foul, particularly in the morning; appetite variable; sometimes voracious, with a gnawing sensation of the stomach, at others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains throughout the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; not unfrequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; respiration occasionally difficult, and accompanied by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

will certainly effect a cure.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN MERCURY

in any form; it is an innocent preparation, not capable of doing the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

The genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrapper.

—:o:—

LIVER PILLS

are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

AGUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine.

As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Each box has a red wax seal on the lid with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.

Insist upon having the genuine Dr. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

ONE PRICE To All! ONE PRICE To All

FACTS THAT ARE UNDENIABLE.

"TO THE VICTOR BELONGS THE SPOILS"

Such is the cry of UNSCRUPULOUS firms, who, in their endeavor to impose upon the credulity of the public, resort to illegitimate means to dispose of their wares. As an illustration, we quote from their advertisements a few of the many devices practiced by them, to-wit: "DOLLAR ARTICLES FOR TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, ROOM WANTED," and what is still more suggestive, EVASIVE LOTTERY SCHEMES, etc.

Influenced, as we are, by the legitimate principles of a square-dealing house, we deem it incumbent upon us to warn the public against the nefarious practices of the GRABBERS. And although it is neither our wish or desire to dictate to them HOW their business SHOULD be conducted, we do object to their sailing under FALSE COLORS. We would call the attention of the public to the glaring advertisements, in which a firm alleging to sell goods at ONE PRICE (1), marks an article one day at $6 50, and the next day at $2 00, and perhaps to-morrow the article may be worth $3 00, in that ONE PRICE (1) establishment. The persons who purchase the article at $6 50 and note the same article advertised on the following day at $2 00, cannot but feel that they have been the victims of imposition and misplaced confidence.

Such procedure surely has not the tendency to win public appreciation or an increase of trade, but manifestly demonstrates the fact that their business IS UNDOUBTEDLY conducted on the "SPOILS SYSTEM;" YOUR MONEY, WITHOUT VALUATION THEREFOR.

Such inconsistencies are against all force of reason.

WE, do NOT propose to give excessive valuation of a dollar invested with us, but a DOLLAR'S VALUE OF A DOLLAR'S INVESTMENT, ONE PRICE and EQUALITY OF TREATMENT IS EXTENDED TO ALL, REGARDLESS OF STATION. These are the doctrines by which our business has been governed since our advent as a Portland business firm, and which have won the well-merited support and patronage of the people of the Pacific coast.

FOURTH ANNUAL VICTORY

For D. M. Osborne & Co. Harvesting Machinery at the Oregon State Fair for 1881.

SALEM, OR., July 17, 1881.

This certifies that D. M. Osborne & Co., was awarded first premiums on their Twine Binding Harvester, No. Six Combined Reaper and Mower, No. Three Independent Reaper, No. Two Front Cut Mower, and No. Five Rear Cut Mower, at the Fair of 1881.

E. M. WAITE, Sec'y.

The above speaks for itself. The competition was between the "Osborne" and "Woods" Twine Binders. The McCormick and Marsh Deering acknowledged defeat, and did not enter for premiums, but found time to exhibit on the Fair Grounds, but attracted no attention whatever. The Osborne was put to a very severe test, elevating and binding green wheat successfully, repeating the operation until the committee expressed perfect satisfaction. The defeat of the Woods' binder was so marked ...
